

Getting to Camp

It is approximately a three hour drive north of San Francisco, California on Highway 101. The nearest town is Laytonville, California.

The physical address is: 50350 N Hwy 101, Laytonville, CA 95454

Driving north from the San Francisco Bay area: Plan on an approximately three–hour drive north on Highway 101. We are located directly off of Highway 101, five miles north of Laytonville, California at highway marker 74.50. On the left, you will see a sign for Camp Winnarainbow and that is our driveway. Signs will lead you to the Camp parking and registration area. Please call or email if you need more detailed directions. Additionally, clicking on the directions link on the map below will get you navigation or turn by turn directions from Google.

Driving south from Eureka: Expect an approximately three–hour drive south on Highway 101. We are located directly off of Highway 101, 22 miles south of Leggett, California at highway marker 74.50. On the right is our driveway, although it is hard to see the sign coming from the north, so keep your eyes out for the highway markers. If you reach downtown Laytonville, you have gone too far. Once on our driveway, signs will lead you to the Camp parking and registration area. Please call or email if you need more detailed directions. Additionally, clicking on the directions link on the map on our website will get you navigation or turn by turn directions from Google.